2016-0026	Anderson	WRDW News 12	10/26/2015	I request copies of the number of tractor trailer crashes in both Georgia and South Carolina each year from 2010 -2014. Please also include (general) statistics for the causes of those accidents (for example: speed, following too closely, etc) and the number of fatalities and/or injuries associated with the accidents. I am also looking for a breakdown of overweight violations in both South Carolina and Georgia. I received the number of overweight violations for 2010 -2014 in a previous Freedom of Information Act Request (FHWA Control Number 2016-0001). However, I would like to see where those violations occurred. In this request, I am asking for a list of where these violations were cited. (For example - 2,000 violations reported at weigh station A and 1500 at weigh station B. It doesn't need to be the specific information for each individual crash.) I understand there are thousands of violations each year, so I'd like to keep this request as simple as possible. If there is an electronic document already compiled for any of those years that lists all violations, please forward it to me in lieu of my specific request, and I will go through the info to find it myself

2016-0039A	Zagrean		11/10/2015	I am writing to appeal the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA) decision to deny my FOIA request dated August 17, 2015, in which I requested the FHWA analysis of 2005 crash tests validating that the ET Plus with 4-inch guide channel was crash tested in May 2005. The decision relies on 1) Exemption 7(a) authorizing the withholding of records or information compiled for law enforcement purposes and on 2) Exemption 5 protecting the deliberative process that covers agency personnel. I argue that both grounds of denial are unfounded as follows 1) Exemption 7(a) First, the FHWA does not have law enforcement powers, and therefore cannot invoke Exemption 7. Second, the documents I have requested were created in the course of FHWA's ordinary business and not for the purpose of any investigation. Third, the FHWA has not specifically identified the subject or target of an investigation - on the contrary, I understand that the official position is that the product has enjoyed an unbroken chain of eligibility. For each of these reasons, Exemption 7(a) does not apply. 2) Exemption 5: For Exemption 5 to apply, the FHWA has the burden of proving that the requested documents are both predecisional and deliberative. The FHWA has done neither. Further, even if privilege might arguably apply, the government has waived its right to invoke Exemption 5. Lastly, the FHWA cannot assume the authority of deciding what may or may not confuse the public, as this exemption describes as part of its general purpose. Rather, the FHWA must face public scrutiny of its exercise of public service - including its deliberation and decision making processes which it seeks to protect here through this Exemption. For each of these reasons, Exemption 5 cannot be

This same 2035 plan states approximately 40 to 50,000 cars a day travel to Hilo on Rt 11, and about 40,000 a day from Puna currently. If this is a correct map, it should show urban clusters for entire island, not just Hilo and Kona, and the roads must have their proper designation according to the true population centers. What designates an urban cluster and where did the information for the maps on page 20 and 21 come from. On page 39 of the 2035 plan there is the following statement By 2035, the overall population on the Island of Hawaii is expected to grow by over 60 percent. The most significant growth is expected in Kohala in the communities of Waikoloa and Waimea, as well as in north Kohala. Where exactly did this significant growth information come from and how did you reach these conclusions. Why is there no mention of the Puna Regional Circulation Plan, a very thorough and
