Construction Activities & Upcoming Work

All traffic control has been removed from the project area including the message boards along Highway 75 from Challis to Stanley. In the next week you should start seeing traffic control being set back up again so be alert and watch for flaggers. There should not be any major delays just alternating traffic while setting devices up in preparation of the work.

Notifications again will be sent out to the local media outlets before starting work, and these weekly newsletters will continue as usual to keep everyone informed as to when the work will resume and be completed.

When the work starts back up, there will be traffic delays and lane restrictions till completion of the Pebble Beach repairs later this summer.

Please be very cautious and alert when traveling through The Narrows and Pebble Beach areas.
Thank You.
